CFI-Tallahassee Presents

“Stealing the Future From Our Kids”

By Dr. Ray Bellamy

Ray Bellamy is a Tallahassee orthopedic surgeon practicing here since 1974. He is Surgery Clerkship Director at the FSU College of Medicine and a former Florida Environmental Regulation Commissioner.

His current focus is on sustainable use of our finite resources, almost all of which are becoming depleted and more expensive. The solutions proposed by corporate leaders and political decision makers, often in concert, usually depend on a presumption of indefinite future growth, which seems increasingly problematic.

With looming planetary shortages of finite resources along with overpopulation and atmospheric destruction -- What Were We Thinking?

The FSU College of Medicine Auditorium is located at the intersection of Stadium Drive and Call Street on the FSU campus. Parking is available in either the COM's parking lot adjacent to the building, the Psychology department lot off Call Street or the parking garage on Stadium Drive.
